Thanksgiving Proclamation.

Governor Wilson has issued his Thanksgiving proclamation under date of November 9. He recommends the President in fullness of a long established custom having designated Thursday, November 25, as a day of Thanksgiving and prayer, that on that day all secular employment be suspended and that "the people assemble at their usual places of worship to give thanks to the Supreme Ruler of the universe, for the continued blessings of free government, the returning prosperity of our country and the countless blessings for each and all. Let us, then, in the midst of prayer and thanksgiving, and with heartfelt kindness and sympathy, remember those who have been distressed with earthquake, flood and storm, and assure to the poor and needy a cheerful and generous charity.

THE WORK GOES ON.

COLD SHORT CONTINUES TO BOOM.

The Old Town of Wheeling and Points of Lines of Industry Offering the Greatest Inducements—Pottery Movements.

A New Steel Plant.

Mr. P. H. Moore ("Cold Short"), the representative of The Age of Steel, of St. Louis, for this section of the country, in his budget of interesting news in the last issue of that journal, has the following to say:

There are several pottery movements towards this valley, with a partiality for Wheeling. I alluded to this business in my last letter, and from some information gathered since, I am confirmed in the belief that the opportunities in this line in this district, have been but very slightly impinged upon. The capacity is susceptible of considerable expansion, and the business has not been slaughtered as has been the pottery movement in the West. It is not less great, however, and all the most important, far-reaching and most reasonable of all commodities; they are firm adherents to rotation in price, and as jealous as a blue octopus. Pottery men are wise in one particular, they are secure.

Natural gas in an inquisitive element, however, and it bores with a big auger, and already chippings of pottery reserve are being turned up. Enterprises, supplemented by ample capital, is investigating the claims of Wheeling in this direction, and the indices encourage the idea that the present pottery capacity will be trebled before the advent of another summer's solstice. The aquifers that have been both the East and West and the present pottery movement is a new steel company is being organized. A plant is to be erected, with some recent improvements in the process and mechanical equipment. It is in the hands of one who will take vigorous advantage of all the merits and defects of the plants built during the last three years and build a model plant, saving in output at least 30 per cent. Mild steel, pottery, wrought pipe and structural specialties are the lines offering the greatest inducements.

THE NEW COURT HOUSE.

To be Taken Possession of Formally This Morning.

The antiquated and dilapidated building at the corner of Chapline and Twelfth streets that has been this county's court house for many years, ceased to be such Saturday, and the seat of government and law and order, so to speak, became located in the north end of the Public Building. There everything is bright and new; its handsome and elegant as money could make it, and as convenient as the most exacting could ask for.

The formal ceremonies in connection with the taking possession of the new quarters will occur this morning. The program as arranged is as follows: The Board of County Commissioners and all the other officers of the county, together with the members of the bar, are expected to meet at the old court house at 10 o'clock. The members of the Board will be presented with cases, made of walnut taken from the old building, by Architect Hamilton. A procession will be formed after the assemblage has recovered itself, the supposition being that the presentation of the cases will be so affecting as to cause tears, and headed by a brass band the officials and bar will march to the Public Building. Arriving there Architect Hamilton will formally deliver the building to the Building Committee, which will then assign each of the officers to his new quarters and then resign the charge of the house into the hands of the full Board of Commissioners, which will at once meet for the transaction of business. Officially there may be some imprudent speeches.

Faintly Burned.

Late Friday night Miss Thornbury, a maid living alone at Triadelphia, in this county, while sitting before an open grate was suddenly seized with an epileptic fit, such as she has before experienced, and fell forward into the fire. A colored man, who was passing by, noticed her situation and rushed to her aid, and when he found her lying there he rushed to the house of Miss Thornbury and found that poor woman lying with her head in the fire, the flesh burned to a crisp and the eyes burned out by the coals, and when he found her lying there he rushed to the house of Miss Thornbury and found that poor woman lying with her head in the fire, the flesh burned to a crisp and the eyes burned out by the coals, and when he found her lying there he rushed to the house of Miss Thornbury and found that poor woman lying with her head in the fire, the flesh burned to a crisp and the eyes burned out by the coals.

The Thompson murder trial will come up for a second time in the Greenbrier Circuit Court this week. Some trouble in obtaining a jury is anticipated, and it is not improbable that a venire from some adjoining county will be summoned.

A CHANGE AT THE GRAND.

Mr. Klunk to Take Charge Thursday—Miss Vickers' Engagement.

Next Thursday the management of the Grand Opera House, the cozy place of amusement in the Washington Hall block, passes into the hands of Mr. Albert J. Klunk and Col. George Redner in order that he may devote himself to his mercantile interests. Mr. Klunk has been occupying the position of treasurer at this house this season and has made himself popular not only with the public but with the profession, by his uniform courtesy. He is a young, energetic and enterprising gentleman with good ideas respecting the theatrical business and there is no doubt but what he will make his pretty theatre pay.

Manager Klunk is lucky in securing Mattie Vickers for his opening attraction. She begins a three nights and matinee engagement that night, Thursday. She has a well earned reputation as one of the brightest and most accomplished little actresses on the stage. She has a very expressive face and sings and dances charmingly.

The Pittsburgh Chronicle Telegraph says of her in a recent issue: "Miss Mattie Vickers surprised the regular patrons of the Opera House with a performance so much superior in an artistic sense to anything that has been seen here for some time. The play that she is now acting is a masterpiece of the drama. She is a graceful, intelligent and handsome actress. She shines in the line she has chosen, and is sure to make her mark to become a great public favorite, as she is sure to shine somewhere to-morrow."

"A RAG BABY"

Will Convince People at the Opera House Tonight.

Every passenger conductor except one on the Elizabeth, Lexington and Big Sandy division of the Chesapeake and Ohio road has been discharged. The reason for this wholesale dismissal is unknown.

Capt. Harry Primrose, until recently head of the Steubenville branch of the Salvation Army, has been sent to the penitentiary for bigamy. He married a Steubenville girl named Jennie Stiers, who he already had a wife in Pennsylvania.

Ex-Governor J. B. Jackson, of Parkersburg, has been notified that in honor of his character and reputation as a statesman and citizen he has been elected an honorary member of the North-western Literary and Historical Society of Sioux City, Iowa.

Jacob J. Miller, of Berkeley county, a man 62 years old, committed suicide Saturday by hanging himself in his granary, where he was found by his son. He had been quite melancholy for some time and several years ago he represented his county in the Legislature.

Mrs. Edith Wilber, of Alderson, rose from her bed early one morning last week and after nursing her child, turned to go to another room and fell dead. She was only twenty years old and had always enjoyed the very best of good health. She was formerly a Miss Stone, of Charleston, where her remains were taken for interment.

The tannery of R. G. Spauls opposite Parkersburg, on the Little Kanawha, was destroyed by fire early Saturday morning. The entire stock of leather, hides, etc., was also lost. Loss on buildings, stock, etc., $500. A small frame dwelling owned by Hon. W. N. Chancellor was also burned. Insured in the Elma Insurance Company. Cause of fire unknown.

Amos Boner for a number of years past has been conducting a wholesale distillery business in Hinton and Boone counties. The Government officials have been after this "moonshiner" repeatedly, but he was a wily outlaw and has always managed to give them the slip somehow and conceal himself in the mountains. Last week U. S. Marshal James Mehan, of Parkersburg, got on Boner's trail in Taylor county and following it, found him man helping another man to butcher hogs. He was promptly arrested and put in jail at Parkersburg.
